The authors also found that the use of the device was associated with a 10% increase in the risk of heart failure.

The study also has some limitations. First, the study was a cross-sectional study and therefore cannot establish a causal relationship between the variables. Second, the study was conducted in a single hospital and therefore may not be generalizable to other hospitals. Third, the study did not include a control group and therefore cannot rule out the possibility of confounding factors. Finally, the study did not include a long-term follow-up and therefore cannot determine the long-term effects of the intervention.

The second half of the book is devoted to a detailed analysis of the various forms of social organization that have emerged in the past century. The author argues that the most significant changes have been the rise of the nation-state, the growth of the welfare state, and the emergence of the global economy. These changes have led to a new form of social organization, which he calls the 'global society'. This society is characterized by a high degree of interdependence and a shared sense of responsibility. The author argues that this new society is the only one that can survive in the future.

Pimentel to sue Namfrel exec over citizenship

By Michael Lee Llanera

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — Sen. Loren Legarda has filed a motion for summary judgment with the Sandiganbayan to sue Namfrel executive director (ED) Antonio Pimentel Jr. for allegedly falsifying his citizenship status to become a senator.

Legarda's motion, filed on Dec. 23, seeks to have the court declare Pimentel's citizenship status as false and void, and to order him to pay damages to the state.

Pimentel, who is currently a senator, was accused of falsifying his citizenship status to become a senator. Legarda's motion seeks to have the court declare Pimentel's citizenship status as false and void, and to order him to pay damages to the state.

SC won't stop canvassing

By Michael Lee Llanera

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — The Supreme Court (SC) has ruled that the Commission on Elections (COMELEC) cannot stop a candidate from canvassing for votes in a local election.

The SC ruled in a 5-4 decision that the COMELEC's order to stop a candidate from canvassing was unconstitutional. The court said that the COMELEC's order was a violation of the candidate's right to free speech and the right to participate in the electoral process.

Deliberate speed

THE PHILIPPINE CONSTITUTION provides that the President shall be elected by the people for a term of six years, and shall not be eligible for re-election. This provision is a cornerstone of the Philippine political system, designed to ensure a smooth and orderly transfer of power. However, the recent events surrounding the impeachment of President Arroyo have raised questions about the integrity and effectiveness of the process.

The impeachment process is a complex and often lengthy one, involving multiple steps and the participation of various branches of government. In the case of President Arroyo, the process has been marred by allegations of political maneuvering and manipulation. The Senate, which is responsible for trying impeached officials, has been accused of acting in a biased and partisan manner, favoring the President over the interests of the people.

The impeachment process is a delicate balance between the need for accountability and the need for stability. While it is essential to hold leaders accountable for their actions, the process should not be used as a tool for political gain or to undermine the democratic process. The recent events in the Philippines have shown that the impeachment process can be manipulated and abused, leading to a loss of public trust and confidence in the government.

The people of the Philippines have a right to a fair and transparent impeachment process. They have a right to know the truth about the actions of their leaders and to have a say in the outcome. The government and the judiciary must work together to ensure that the process is fair and that the interests of the people are protected.

The impeachment process is a vital part of the democratic system, and it must be protected and strengthened. It must be a process that is fair, transparent, and accountable to the people. Only then can it serve its purpose of holding leaders accountable and ensuring the smooth and orderly transfer of power.

BSP says 5-mo inflation average still within target

Oil output hike seen to prevent further increases in pump prices

By David C. Johnson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — The Federal Reserve Bank of Seattle said today that the five-month average inflation rate remains within the target range, but it expects inflation to rise further if oil prices continue to climb.

The bank's report, released today, says that the five-month average inflation rate for December was 3.1 percent, which is within the target range of 2.5 to 3.5 percent. However, the bank expects inflation to rise to 3.5 percent by the end of the year if oil prices continue to climb.

The bank also expects that the oil output hike will prevent further increases in pump prices.
